Social Topology Games

Objective: scale up. I want more experiences/adventures like some I've had in the past, and games were a key piece in those games

ways to scale:
- character image
- props image
- game infrastructure
- social exposure surface area; more venues
- catalogue of social transformations/configurations/positions

material
- props, cards
  - magic tricks
- theory, games
- image, presentation
  - fundamentals {
- inventory, equipment, skills

flows
- attention - network bandwidth?
  - sympathy, empathy, pity
- tone, emotion, mood, feeling
- dopamine, adrenaline, oxytocin
- status, prestige, respect - asymmetric directional weight; hierarchical vector
  - authority
- trust, legitimacy, loyalty - edge conductance; lowers transaction friction
  - suspicion
- morality
- attraction
- security, immunity
- humor

plays, spells
- opening, hook
- proposition
- phase transition
- combination, join
  - triadic weld, catalytic bridge
- lateral discharge
  - attention shift
- blame, sacrifice - align all against one
  - The Mist - his fault scene
  - Walking Dead - Merle vs Governor
- split, fission
- key change
- tuned honesty
  - "Honesty is actually a blunt instrument, which bloodies more than it cuts."
- mirror
- triangulation
- icebreaker
- story

  - point in conversation when speakers may switch
- TCU : turn-constructional unit
  - basic building block of conversation

- proxemics - use of physical space
- kinesics - body language

archetypes
- energy vampire

games
- capture the flag
- kill or be killed
- find the rat
- change (improv)
- mogging
- coolness - stoic non-reactivity generates an illusion of infinite status surplus
- attention monopoly
- court
- blame, sacrifice, ostracism, scapegoat
- martyrdom
- witch hunt, cancel culture, me too movement, mccarthyism
- outsource own insecurity
- possess authority to define reality
  - Human groups operate on intersubjective consensus. Whoever sets the definitions controls the group's agenda
- tertius gaudens - 3rd party stokes rivalry between other 2 nodes
  - Don Eladio
  - By preventing direct edge creation (), node retains an absolute monopoly on information transfer between A and C
    - nodes A and C and remain anxious, atomized, and dependent.
    - Triangulation collapses the moment open edges form between the endpoints (triadic closure).
- vulnerability shakedown
  - The initiator secures rapid leverage and social immunity; the counterparty feels trapped in an unearned high-intimacy tie with zero structural foundation
- tournament

models
- performance
  - hook, opener
  - stable
  - build-up
  - fermata
  - drop, punchline
  - breakdown
  - fin

arenas (horizontal scaling) - high-frequency live gameplay
- games concentrate near status ambiguity, asymmetric capital distribution, fluid audience attention
- locations
  - prestige bazaars
  - courts
    - legal
    - bureaucratic, political
  - dinners, jams, retreats, parties, mixers, conferences, functions
  - disposable sandboxes - high-throughput testing grounds
    - hostel lobbies
    - smoking patios
    - bars
    - bleachers
- entry protocol = boundary-crossing problem
  - you are an unlinked node attempting to establish an edge with a dense, inward-facing cluster without triggering defensive immune responses.
  - Cold-to-Weld Latency (): The average time (in seconds or minutes) from entering a physical room as a stranger to closing a triadic tie or participating in an ongoing conversational floor.
  - Boundary Rejection Cost: Psychological desensitization to awkwardness or rejected bids. Scaling requires maintaining zero lingering emotional friction when a play misfires.
